

Materials Needed

- Lightweight cotton crochet thread or embroidery crochet yarn
- Crochet hook suitable for your thread size (usually 1.75 mm–2.5 mm)
- Scissors
- Yarn needle
- Stitch markers (optional)

US Crochet Abbreviations

- ch = chain
- sl st = slip stitch
- sc = single crochet
- hdc = half double crochet
- dc = double crochet
- sc2tog = single crochet 2 together
- adjustable ring = magic ring

Finished Bracelet Size

The bracelet is adjustable because of the sliding clasp, making it suitable for most wrist sizes.

Before You Begin

This bracelet is constructed in four parts:

1. Crochet the bracelet band
2. Crochet the flower motif
3. Crochet the leaves
4. Create the adjustable sliding clasp

Work slowly and keep your tension even for the prettiest result.

Crochet the Bracelet Band

The band is worked in rows using double crochet stitches with decorative chain spaces.

Foundation Chain

Start by making a foundation chain long enough to fit comfortably around your wrist, leaving extra length for the adjustable closure.

A good starting point is approximately 45–55 chains depending on your wrist size and thread thickness.

Row 1

Work 1 dc into the fourth chain from the hook.

Continue placing 1 dc into each chain across.

At intervals, create decorative star-like openings by working:

- ch 2
- skip 2 stitches
- dc into next stitch

Repeat the decorative spacing evenly across the bracelet band.

Finish with regular dc stitches to the end.

Turn your work.

Row 2

Chain 3.

Work dc stitches across the row.

Whenever you reach a chain space from the previous row, work:

- 2 dc
- ch 2
- 2 dc

This creates the decorative openings shown in the chart.

Continue until the end of the row.

Fasten off neatly and weave in the yarn tail.

Crochet the Center Flower

The flower is made separately using an adjustable ring and several rounded petals.

Start the Flower Center

Create an adjustable ring.

Round 1

Chain 3 (counts as first dc).

Work 15 more dc into the adjustable ring.

Join with a sl st to the top of the beginning chain.

Pull the ring tight.

You should now have a circular flower center.

Round 2

Chain 1.

Work small chain loops around the circle:

- ch 3
- sl st into next stitch

Repeat all the way around.

These loops form the base of the petals.

Join with a sl st.

Round 3 — Petals

Work each petal into a chain loop.

Inside one loop work:

- sc
- hdc
- 5 dc
- hdc
- sc

Repeat this sequence in every loop around the flower.

You will create rounded petals exactly like the diagram.

Join with a sl st after the final petal.

Fasten off, leaving a tail for sewing.

Crochet the Leaves

Make 2 leaves.

Leaf Foundation

Chain approximately 10 stitches.

Row 1 Around the Chain

Starting in the second chain from hook:

- sc in next stitch
- hdc in next stitch
- dc in next 4 stitches
- hdc in next stitch
- sc in next stitch

At the tip:

- ch 2
- pivot to work on opposite side of foundation chain

Now mirror the stitches:

- sc
- hdc
- dc across center
- hdc
- sc

Join with a sl st.

Shape the Leaf

To create the pointed leaf shape, work:

- sc2tog near both ends
- maintain dc stitches in the center

Fasten off and leave tails for sewing.

Attach the Flower and Leaves

Position the flower in the center of the bracelet band.

Place one leaf on each side of the flower.

Using a yarn needle, sew the flower and leaves securely onto the bracelet.

Take your time to make the stitches neat and invisible from the front.

Make the Adjustable Sliding Clasp

This clasp allows the bracelet to tighten and loosen easily.

Prepare the Bracelet Ends

Leave long yarn cords at both ends of the bracelet.

Cross the two cords over each other.

Create the Sliding Section

Using a separate piece of yarn:

Wrap around both cords together.

Work several tight stitches around the cords:

- sc stitches
or
- repeated sl st wraps

Continue until the clasp section measures about 1 inch long.

Fasten securely.

Finish the Cord Ends

At each cord end:

- make a small knot
or
- crochet a tiny bead shape using sc stitches

This prevents the cords from slipping out of the clasp.

Final Finishing

Carefully weave in all loose ends using a yarn needle.

Lightly block the bracelet if desired:

- dampen gently
- shape the flower and leaves
- allow to dry flat

Helpful Tips

- Cotton thread gives the bracelet better stitch definition.
- Keep your flower stitches relaxed so the petals open nicely.
- If your bracelet curls, lightly steam block it.
- Use metallic or pearl thread for a jewelry-like appearance.
- Add tiny beads to the flower center for extra elegance.

Customization Ideas

You can personalize this bracelet in many ways:

- Make multiple flowers
- Add beads to the petals
- Use ombré thread
- Create matching earrings
- Turn the motif into an anklet or choker

Common Mistakes and Fixes

Flower Curling

This usually means stitches are too tight. Try using a larger hook.

Leaves Look Uneven

Count stitches carefully on both sides of the foundation chain.

Clasp Too Loose

Wrap more stitches around the cords for a tighter sliding effect.

Bracelet Too Short

Add more chains to the foundation before beginning Row 1.

Conclusion

This crochet flower bracelet is delicate, feminine, and surprisingly easy once you break it into sections. The combination of textured petals, elegant leaves, and the adjustable clasp creates a professional-looking handmade accessory that anyone can wear.
